CALL FOR PRESENTATIONS

PLATO’s 8th Biennial Conference: The Future of Education

June 25-26, 2027
Oberlin College, Ohio

Poster Sessions

Poster sessions are ideal for sharing quantitative or qualitative research, philosophy programming, classroom case studies, curricular frameworks, or works-in-progress that lend themselves to graphic depiction and visual storytelling. If your primary objective is to engage in one-on-one conversations with colleagues rather than delivering a formal talk to a seated audience, a poster is the ideal format.

Posters will be displayed throughout the conference and a poster session will be scheduled on the second day.

- Posters should be standard-poster board size.
- Please include a presentation title at the top of your poster. This should be in bold and larger than the rest of your text.
- All text should be easily visible from a short distance. Remember that there might be 4 or 5 people attempting to read your poster at one time.
- Use large font, but do not place all paragraphs in bold.
- The use of bulleted lists can be an effective way to synthesize information on a poster.
- Do not include too much text on your poster (aim for a word count of 500-800 words). It is important to be concise. The idea here is to state major discussion points and/or data (or related images) and unique/important aspects of your work on your poster to use as a basis for discussion with conference attendees.
- Include your name, email address, and affiliation on the poster.
- Review Process: Anonymous. Please ensure proposal narratives contain no identifying information.
- Proposal Requirements: Proposals must include a title; an abstract describing the poster’s focus (250-word limit); and, on a separate last page, the name(s), affiliation(s), and short biography (75-word limit per presenter) of the presenter(s).
